Proposal for a regulation

Recital 2 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(2a) On 24 December 2020, negotiators for the Union and the United Kingdom reached an agreement on the future relationship. That Trade and Cooperation Agreement between the Union and the United Kingdom^{1a} (the ‘Agreement’) has applied provisionally since 1 January 2021. On trade, the Agreement establishes that all goods that comply with the relevant rules of origin are exempt from tariffs and quotas. On fisheries, the Agreement maintains reciprocal access to fishing waters and fisheries resources until 30 June 2026 (the ‘adjustment period’). During the adjustment period, however, fishing opportunities for the Union fleet are to be cut by 25% over time in United Kingdom waters and in third-country waters, as is the case for the cod quota in Svalbard (Norway). This could bring about profound changes throughout the fisheries value chain and in the structure of the economy in some coastal regions that are dependent on fishing.

^{1a} Trade and Cooperation Agreement between the European Union and the European Atomic Energy Community, of the one part, and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and the Northern Ireland, of the other part ('Trade and Cooperation Agreement') (OJ L 444, 31.12.2020, p. 14).

Justification

The withdrawal of the UK also triggered migration flows, in which the nationals from Member States decided to leave the UK – actual movement was spread over the years following the referendum in 2016. The number of migrants significantly above the average annual flows has an impact on Member States, in particular labour markets. Amendment

3. The resources referred to in paragraph 2 shall be allocated as follows:

3. The resources referred to in paragraph 2 shall be allocated as a pre-financing amount of EUR 5 370 994 000 in 2021 in accordance with Article 8 and distributed in three annual tranches in the years 2021-2023 as follows:

Or. en

Justification

We propose to: allocate BAR resources in one-go structure to ensure predictability for Member States and to disburse pre-financing in 3 annual tranches, which is crucial for Member States' budgets financing the reserve. All in all the effects of changes will be: swift implementation, burden for national budgets spread over 3 years and not concentrated in one year, financial certainty for beneficiaries. It also addresses concerns by other Member States: it in fact leads to smaller pre-financing.

Justification

The withdrawal of the UK also triggered migration flows, in which the nationals from Member States decided to leave the UK – actual movement was spread over the years following the referendum in 2016. The number of migrants significantly above the average annual flows has an impact on Member States, in particular labour markets. BAR should include demographics as a consequence of Brexit, for example - return migration putting more pressure on labour markets, housing, health and social services.

Justification

The allocation of funds in the fisheries sector has not taken into account the value of transfers of fishing opportunities caught outside of UK waters despite it being part of the Annex I of the Fisheries Chapter of the Brexit Agreement. Allocation method for the additional amount of the Brexit Adjustment Reserve

The additional amount of the Brexit Adjustment Reserve shall be distributed between the Member States according to the following methodology:

1. Each Member State's share from the additional amount of the Brexit Adjustment Reserve is determined by way of a factor linked to trade with the UK in the internal market, to ensure a fair distribution of financial support over the Union to take account of the loss of trade opportunities resulting from the withdrawal from the United Kingdom from the Union

2. The factor is obtained by applying the following steps:

a) each Member State's trade with the UK is expressed as share of the EU trade with the UK (trade is the sum of the imports and the exports of good and services , excluding financial services);

b) to assess the relative importance of these trade flows for each Member State, the sum of trade flows with the UK are expressed as a percentage of the Member State's overall trade flows with the whole EU-28 and subsequently expressed as an index of the EU average (index of dependency);

c) the initial share of trade with the UK is adjusted by multiplying it with the Member State's index of dependency;

d) these adjusted shares are rescaled to ensure that the sum of all Member States' shares equals 100%;

e) the shares so obtained are adjusted by dividing them with the Member State's GNI per capita (in purchasing power parities) expressed as a percentage of the average GNI per capita of the EU (average expressed as 100%);

f) the resulting shares are rescaled to ensure the sum of shares equals 100%, whereby it is ensured that no Member State can have a share higher than 25% of the full amount of the Brexit Adjustment Reserve. The resources deducted due to this capping are redistributed to the other Member States, proportionally to their non-capped shares;

g) if this calculation leads to an allocation exceeding 0.35% of a Member State's GNI (measured in Euro), that Member

State's allocation is capped at the level of 0.35% of its GNI. The resources deducted due to this capping are redistributed to the other Member States, proportionally to their non-capped shares;

h) if the calculation referred to in point g) results in an aid intensity of more than EUR 190/inhabitant, that Member State's allocation is capped at the level corresponding to an aid intensity of EUR 190/inhabitant. The resources deducted due to this capping are distributed to the Member States not capped under points g) or h), proportionally to their shares as calculated in point g).

3. For the purposes of calculating the distribution of the additional amount of the Brexit Adjustment Reserve:

a) for trade the reference period shall be 2017-2019;

Allocation method for the additional amount of the Brexit Adjustment Reserve

The additional amount of the Brexit Adjustment Reserve shall be distributed between the Member States according to the following methodology:

1. Each Member State's share from the additional amount of the Brexit Adjustment Reserve is determined by way of a factor linked to trade with the UK in the internal market, to ensure a fair distribution of financial support over the Union to take account of the loss of trade opportunities resulting from the withdrawal from the United Kingdom from the Union.

2. The factor is obtained by applying the following steps:

a) each Member State's trade with the UK is expressed as share of the EU trade with the UK (trade is the sum of the imports and the exports of good and services , excluding financial services);

b) to assess the relative importance of these trade flows for each Member State, the sum of trade flows with the UK are expressed as a percentage of the Member State's overall trade flows with the whole EU-28 and subsequently expressed as an index of the EU average (index of dependency);

c) the initial share of trade with the UK is adjusted by multiplying it with the Member State's index of dependency;

d) these adjusted shares are rescaled to ensure that the sum of all Member States' shares equals 100%;

e) the shares so obtained are adjusted by dividing them with the Member State's GNI per capita (in purchasing power parities) expressed as a percentage of the average GNI per capita of the EU (average expressed as 100%);

f) the resulting shares are rescaled to ensure the sum of shares equals 100%, whereby it is ensured that no Member State can have a share higher than 25% of the full amount of the Brexit Adjustment Reserve. The resources deducted due to this capping are redistributed to the other Member States, proportionally to their non-capped shares;

g) if this calculation leads to an allocation exceeding 0.35% of a Member State's GNI (measured in Euro), that Member State's allocation is capped at the level of 0.35% of its GNI. The resources deducted due to this capping are redistributed to the other Member States, proportionally to their non-capped shares;

h) if the calculation referred to in point g) results in an aid intensity of more than EUR 190/inhabitant, that Member State's allocation is capped at the level corresponding to an aid intensity of EUR 190/inhabitant. The resources deducted due to this capping are distributed to the Member States not capped under points g) or h), proportionally to their shares as calculated in point g).

3. For the purposes of calculating the distribution of the additional amount of the Brexit Adjustment Reserve:

a) for trade the reference period shall be 2017-2019;

b) for GNI the reference period shall be 2017-2019;

c) for GNI/capita (in purchasing power parities) the reference period shall be 2016-2018;

d) for total population of the Member States the reference period shall be 2017-2019.
