Children from households that meet federal guidelines are eligible for free or reduced price meals or free milk as long as the school or organization administers the federal School Nutrition Programs or CACFP.

Direct Certification through SNAP/TANF

When Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) and Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) information is on file at the school, households will receive a letter stating their child is automatically enrolled in free or reduced meals, and an application does not need to be completed. If any student residing within the household is not listed on that letter of approval for free or reduced meals, parents/families should contact the school to ensure free or reduced meal benefits are extended to those additional children.

If a household currently receives SNAP or TANF for any child or other household member but has not received the letter of approval, application forms are available to all homes. Households need only to list the child's name and SNAP or TANF case number, and sign the application to receive free meals. Per federal standards, Medicaid enrollment does not automatically qualify a household for free or reduced meals. The household will need to submit other qualifying information such as SNAP, TANF, or income on an application.

To apply for free or reduced-price benefits with income information, households must complete the application as soon as possible, sign it, and return it to the school or organization. One application should be submitted for all the students within the household enrolled in the school district or organization. Households should answer all applicable questions on the form. An application that does not contain all the required information cannot be processed or approved by the school or organization.

Income Applications

If a household's income is at or below the level shown on the income scale, children are eligible for free or reduced price meals or free milk. Adults in CACFP-participating programs are eligible for free or reduced price meals.

The following information is required for income applications:

- The names of all household members;
- All household income last month and source of income received by each household member (for example, EARNINGS, WELFARE, PENSION, or OTHER). Income is all money before taxes or anything else is taken out;
- The signature of an adult household member; and
- The last four digits of the Social Security number of the adult signing the application.

The information on the application for free or reduced price meals may be verified by the school or other officials at any time during the school/program year and will be treated confidentially. The information households provide will be used only for the eligibility determinations and verification of data.

Households may apply for benefits at any time during the school/program year. If a household is not eligible at the beginning of a school year but has a decrease in household income, an increase in household size, or a household member becomes unemployed, an application should be filled out at that time.

Foster, Homeless, Migrant, Runaway, and Head Start/Even Start Students

When schools or organizations have foster, homeless, migrant, runaway, Head Start/Even Start Programs enrollment information on file, households will receive a letter of the child's eligibility for free meals. If a letter is not received, households should fill out an application.

Foster children are eligible for free meal or milk benefits regardless of the household income. If a household has foster children living with them and would like to apply for meals or milk benefits for them, they should contact the school or organization for help with the application.

Children enrolled in the Head Start/Even Start Program or the Migrant Education Program or who are considered homeless or runaway by the school district's migrant/homeless liaison should contact the school for assistance in receiving benefits.

Under the provisions of the policy, a local school corporation or organization official will review applications and determine eligibility. Households dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss it with the school or organization.

Households also have the right to a fair hearing which may be initiated by contacting the hearing official in the local school corporation.
