COURSE NOW AVAILABLE

COMPREHENSIVE LITERACY FOR ALL BOOK STUDY

In this interactive course participants will engage in a self-paced book study and supporting resources focused on literacy instruction for students with significant cognitive disabilities. The book under study in this course is "Comprehensive Literacy for All: Teaching Students with Significant Disabilities to Read and Write" by Karen Erickson and David Koppenhaver.

This course is now available for all administrators, teachers, and support staff in NCEES. Contact your PSU if you have questions regarding NCEES access. Use the Book Study registration link to learn more and to self-enroll in this course. For more information contact Matthew Martinez, Nancy Childress or Beth Gilchrist.
