Amazon Future Engineer offers free online computer science classes for any student or teacher affected by COVID-19 in the US

Many schools in the US have had to close temporarily due to the coronavirus outbreak.

Recognizing the enormous impact this situation has on a school community, Amazon Future Engineer is offering free online computer science classes for any student or teacher affected by school closures due to COVID-19 in the US.

All middle school and high school classes, including Advanced Placement, are provided through Edhesive. Students and teachers will maintain free access through August 31st, 2020. Amazon Future Engineer will continue to closely monitor the needs of students and teachers going forward.

The Amazon Future Engineer program is focused on increasing access to computer science education for hundreds of thousands of students and teachers. To learn more about Amazon Future Engineer, click here (<https://www.amazonfutureengineer.com>).
