

The Mental Health Needs of Students During COVID-19: A Parent Perspective

A live-stream presentation by

Diane Coffey, Family Support Network of North Carolina-High Country,
Jim Deni, University of North Carolina at Charlotte, and
Bill Hussey, North Carolina School-based Mental Health Initiative

Tuesday, September 14, 2021, 12:00–1:30 pm

This seminar presents data on the mental health needs of students primarily receiving virtual instruction during COVID-19. Parent perspectives on the impact of COVID-19 students' social, emotional and mental health will be shared and ways to better support student and family wellbeing will be discussed.

COST $25

- Discounts and scholarships available to eligible participants.*
- Fee Waived for current UNC-SSW students, staff, faculty, field instructors, and task supervisors.*
- Additional $6 for category A credit for psychologists.

*For available coupon codes, discounts and scholarships, send email to akshata@email.unc.edu

LIVE STREAMING ONLY – All seminars are provided through live-stream via Zoom.

REGISTER AT <https://sswevents.unc.edu/family-disability-21>

ADA STATEMENT If you require any of the auxiliary aids or services identified in the Americans with Disabilities Act in order to participate in this program, please email us at akshata@email.unc.edu no later than ten business days before the program.

Additional questions? Contact Akshata Malur at akshata@email.unc.edu

