

Looking Back moving Forward Stories from Covid times

An exhibition of stories of the Pandemic through Photography and Quilting

Come along to our free exhibition to view people's stories of living through the pandemic in Dudley borough.

We have worked with clients from Queen's Cross Network to put together a personal photographic account of their experiences. At the same time Dudley residents and groups were asked to quilt a square depicting their stories of Covid-19; these have now been made into a wall hanging.

The project has been commissioned to ensure that people's lived experiences of Covid-19 contribute to our learning from the pandemic and inform our future working practices and priorities and will be fed in to the borough's new health and wellbeing strategy.

The exhibition can be viewed at:

Stourbridge Library Monday 15 August to Friday 2 September

Beacon Centre Café Wednesday 7 September to Wednesday 28 September

Halesowen Library Monday 3 October to Monday 24 October
