

Join Us for a Virtual Information Session SEC SCHOLARS PROGRAM

Throughout the year, the SEC seeks bright, innovative, results-oriented individuals for our Scholars Program in our Washington, DC and regional offices. We offer paid internship opportunities that enhance careers by providing robust responsibilities and experiences to undergraduate, graduate and professional students.

In partnership with the SEC's Office of Human Resources, the Office of Minority and Women Inclusion is excited to host an upcoming Webex session designed to share information about our agency's Scholars program, application process and helpful tips for interested candidates.
