⁶ <http://eur-lex.europa.eu/legal-content/EN/TXT/?uri=COM%3A2016%3A128%3AFIN>

⁷ "At the same time, the Posting of Workers Directive underpins the initiatives for the road transport sector announced by the Commission in its Work Programme 2016. These measures will aim in particular to further enhance social and working conditions of road transport workers fostering at the same time the efficient and fair provision of road transport services. The two million workers engaged in international road transport operations regularly carry out work on the territory of different Member States, over brief periods of time. In this context, the forthcoming initiatives for the road transport sector should contribute to more clarity and better enforcement of the rules applicable to employment contracts in the transport sector and may address the specific challenges the application of the provisions of the Posting of Workers Directive raises in this specific sector."

Update

1. Foreseen timing for the presentation of sector-specific legislation (RS): According to information received from European Commission staff, there is an ongoing targeted revision of the social road transport legislation, i.e. Regulation 561/2006 on driving times, breaks and rest periods⁸, Directive 2002/15 on working time of road transport mobile workers⁹ and the implementation/ enforcement Directive 2006/22¹⁰. Regarding the timing, if all goes smoothly (public consultation, impact assessment), all legislative proposals should be submitted in the first half of 2017. 2. Letter to petitioners: Under preparation (MA/AH).
