

collections subject to OMB approval under the Paperwork Reduction Act, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq., nor does it require any special considerations under Executive Order 12898, entitled “Federal Actions to Address Environmental Justice in Minority Populations and Low-Income Populations” (59 FR 7629, February 16, 1994).

Since tolerances and exemptions that are established on the basis of a petition under FFDCA section 408(d), such as the tolerance exemption in this action, do not require the issuance of a proposed rule, the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.) do not apply.

This action directly regulates growers, food processors, food handlers, and food retailers, not States or Tribes. As a result, this action does not alter the relationships or distribution of power and responsibilities established by Congress in the preemption provisions of FFDCA section 408(n)(4). As such, EPA has determined that this action will not have a substantial direct effect on States or Tribal governments, on the relationship between the National Government and the States or Tribal governments, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government or between the Federal Government and Indian tribes. Thus, EPA has determined that Executive Order 13132, entitled “Federalism” (64 FR 43255, August 10, 1999), and Executive Order 13175, entitled “Consultation and Coordination with Indian Tribal Governments” (65 FR 67249, November 9, 2000), do not apply to this action. In addition, this action does not impose any enforceable duty or contain any unfunded mandate as described under Title II of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (2 U.S.C. 1501 et seq.).

This action does not involve any technical standards that would require EPA’s consideration of voluntary consensus standards pursuant to section 12(d) of the National Technology Transfer and Advancement Act (15 U.S.C. 272 note).

V. Congressional Review Act

Pursuant to the Congressional Review Act (5 U.S.C. 801 et seq.), EPA will submit a report containing this rule and other required information to the U.S. Senate, the U.S. House of Representatives, and the Comptroller General of the United States prior to publication of the rule in the Federal Register. This action is not a “major rule” as defined by 5 U.S.C. 804(2).

Texas: Final Authorization of State-Initiated Changes and Incorporation by Reference of State Hazardous Waste Management Program

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Final rule and response to comments.

SUMMARY: In this rule, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is approving state-initiated changes and incorporation by reference of the State of Texas hazardous waste program under the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act. The EPA also addresses comments it received after issuing two proposed rules on the Texas revisions. EPA is confirming the program revisions to the State of Texas hazardous waste program satisfy all requirements needed to qualify for final authorization. No further opportunity for comment will be provided. This final rule also codifies and incorporates by reference the authorized provisions of the Texas statutes and regulations in the Code of Federal Regulations.

DATES: This final rule is effective April 10, 2020. The incorporation by reference of authorized provisions in the Texas statutes and regulations contained in this rule is approved by the Director of the Federal Register as of April 10, 2020, in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552(a) and 1 CFR part 51.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

A. What were the comments and responses to EPA’s proposal?

During the initial public comment period that ended on November 23, 2018, EPA received comments from three sources regarding EPA’s proposal to (1) authorize State-initiated changes to Texas’ hazardous waste regulations in accordance with 40 CFR part 271 and (2) codify in 40 CFR part 272, the prior approval of Texas’ hazardous waste management program and incorporate by reference authorized provisions of the State’s statutes and regulations. For the public comment period ending August 9, 2019, EPA received one comment from one of the initial commenters which reiterated concerns about the Texas authorized program. The full set of comments can be found in the docket for this action.

In accordance with 40 CFR parts 271 and 272, EPA provides the following responses to comments regarding the authorization and codification of Texas' hazardous waste program under RCRA subtitle C:

One commenter made a reference to a previous Texas authorization Federal Register notice published on September 3, 2014 (79 FR 52220; EPA-R06-RCRA-2013-0624-0003) in which the commenter raised an issue about Texas' land disposal restrictions (LDR) requirements. In an initial comment received on November 19, 2018 for the October 24, 2018 Proposed Rule, the commenter asserted that EPA does not address public comments that oppose a State's authorization and requested a "complete top-to-bottom review" of Texas' RCRA program, starting with the Texas land disposal restrictions and the hazardous fluorescent lamp programs to ensure that the State's program is no less stringent than the Federal law and regulations. This same commenter reiterated the same concerns in a comment submitted during the extended public comment period that ended on August 9, 2019. EPA responds to this comment as follows:

The commenter's assertion that EPA does not address public comments that oppose a State's authorization is incorrect. The EPA does address adverse comments that pertain to specific final rules for which a State is seeking authorization. In the case of the September 3, 2014 Federal Register notice, the Texas authorization did not pertain to the LDR program and therefore the comment about LDR was not relevant to the action addressed in that authorization notice. See www.regulations.gov for the response to the comment posted on September 15, 2014. With respect to the hazardous waste lamp rule, as introduced into the Federal regulations on July 6, 1999 (64 FR 36466), EPA reviewed Texas regulations for those provisions and determined that they were equivalent to the Federal requirements and authorized the State for the lamp requirements (70 FR 34371, June 14, 2005). EPA can only address the comments and take action on the specific set of rules which are identified in the current rulemaking. Prior rulemakings should be challenged at the time they are proposed and finalized. If they are not challenged in a timely manner, the concept of final agency action under the Administrative Procedure Act (See 5 U.S.C. Sec. 704) would be undermined. In order to adequately address the concerns of this anonymous commenter, EPA recommends that the commenter contact EPA directly and send written documentation, outlining the specific reasons for their assessment and conclusions about the Texas authorized hazardous waste program. The information sent to EPA should provide supporting documentation and rationale for their evaluation of the Texas program or the commenter may contact the Region to discuss their concerns.

A second set of comments were submitted by the Sierra Club which raised a number of issues related to: (1) EPA's proposed authorization of State-initiated changes to Title 30, Texas Administrative Code, sections 335.155(1) and 335.261(b)(15), analogous to 40 CFR 264.77(a) and 273.8(a)(2), respectively; (2) authorized Texas provisions and amendments to previously authorized provisions in the Texas regulations; and (3) limited explanation and information about accessing the agency's documents underlying the proposed action.

In the first issue, the Sierra Club objected to EPA authorizing the State-initiated changes that EPA has deemed minor without the State submitting a formal application for EPA authorization or providing the citation of authority which explains the basis for the absence of a formal application. The Sierra Club further asserted that the formal application would have provided the associated public participation processes. EPA's response to this comment is discussed in Section B below.

The second issue raised by the Sierra Club involved the documentation EPA provided in the proposed rule relative to the codification and incorporation by reference of the Texas authorized program. The Sierra Club acknowledged that in the proposed rule, EPA notified the public that there are some provisions of the Texas hazardous waste management program that are not part of the Federally authorized State program; such as State analogs to Federal provisions for which the State is not authorized, unauthorized amendments to previously authorized State provisions, new unauthorized State requirements and Federal rules for which Texas is authorized but which have since been vacated. See, 83 FR 53597, October 24, 2018. In addition, the Sierra Club emphasized that "[S]imply noting that there are such unauthorized provisions in the Texas program and that they are not Federally enforceable falls short of EPA's legal obligations under RCRA." and "if the Texas hazardous waste program contains any provision that is less stringent than the Federal requirements, it is unlawful and EPA must disapprove it until those provisions are corrected or eliminated." EPA responds to this comment as follows:

As discussed in Section II.C of the proposed rule, the purpose of the codification of the Texas statutes and regulations under 40 CFR part 272 is to clarify which of the Texas provisions are included in the authorized and Federally enforceable program and for the public to be able to discern the status of Federally approved requirements of the Texas hazardous waste management program. The codification process that EPA follows requires the Agency to review the State's entire regulations in order to document the provisions that EPA has already authorized, and to identify all provisions and language in the State's regulations that EPA has not authorized. Such unauthorized State provisions may include (1) analogs to Federal provisions adopted by the State; (2) State-only provisions with no Federal analogs; (3) amendments to previously authorized provisions; or (4) Federal provisions adopted by the State but which have since been vacated by a Court at the Federal level. The process allows EPA to identify regulatory and statutory deficiencies in the State's authorized program and to require the State to make corrections and amendments to the State regulations and statutes to be at least equivalent and consistent and not less stringent than the Federal program. The State is then required to submit a program revision application to EPA for review and approval. While the State is addressing those issues, EPA proceeds with the codification of the State's authorized program and makes it clear to the public in the codification Federal Register document which State provisions are not part of the authorized program.

In the case of the Comparable Fuels Exclusions (63 FR 33782, 6/19/98) and the Hazardous Waste Gasification Exclusion (73 FR 57 1/2/08) for which Texas was previously authorized, but which have since been vacated by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit (D.C. Cir. No. 98-1379 and 08-1144, respectively; June 27, 2014), the EPA is clarifying in this final rule, that the Texas provisions are no longer part of the State's authorized program. The effect of the vacatur on all States, including Texas, is that the previously authorized comparable fuels and gasification rules from the State program are no longer to be considered part of the Federally authorized program. Thus, EPA may bring enforcement actions under RCRA Section 3008 at facilities that do not comply with the RCRA hazardous waste regulations.

EPA has been working with the State of Texas to make the necessary corrections to its regulations and to submit an application to EPA for review. In the Binder entitled “EPA-Approved Texas Statutory and Regulatory Requirements Applicable to the Hazardous Waste Management Program,” dated December 2015 (the Binder) that is incorporated by reference, EPA crosses out all provisions and language that EPA has determined are not part of the State’s authorized requirements. The “Addendum to the EPA Approved Texas Regulatory Requirements Applicable to the Hazardous Waste Management Program” (the Addendum) includes the actual State regulatory text authorized by the EPA for the citations listed at 272.2201(c)(4).

Finally, the commenters indicated that EPA did not make available in the e-docket at www.regulations.gov all supporting documents for EPA’s proposed authorization and codification of the Texas hazardous waste management program. With the publication of the August 9, 2019 Federal Register notice that extended the public comment period for 30 days, EPA provided all supporting documents at www.regulations.gov. Copies of both the Binder and the Addendum were also made available to the public in the e-docket at www.regulations.gov.

B. What State-initiated changes is EPA authorizing with this action?

The Sierra Club objected to EPA authorizing the State-initiated changes that EPA has deemed minor without the State submitting a formal application for EPA authorization or providing the citation of authority which explains the basis for the absence of a formal application. The Sierra Club further asserted that the formal application would have provided the associated public participation processes. EPA responds to this comment as follows:

According to 40 CFR 271.21 Procedures for revision of State Programs—40 CFR 271.21(a) provides, “Either EPA or the approved State may initiate program revision.” Further, 40 CFR 271.21(b)(1) states “The State shall submit a modified program description, . . . , or such other documents as EPA determines to be necessary under the circumstances.” Under the circumstances of these revisions EPA has determined that the only documents deemed necessary are the Texas RCRA statutes and regulations. We determined this because State-initiated changes addressed in the proposed rule were corrections to technical errors in the State’s regulations that did not impact substance of the State’s authorized hazardous waste management program. Specifically, Texas amended 335.155(1) [analog to 40 CFR 264.77(a)] to correct an error in the internal reference by replacing “264.56(j)” with “264.56(i). Texas also amended 335.261(b)(15) [analog to 40 CFR 264.77(a) and 273.8(a)(2)] to provide correct references to 40 CFR 273.8(a)(2) and 261.5. EPA deemed these corrections to be of a such a non-substantive/minor nature that submission of additional material was not necessary. The State’s laws and regulations, as amended by these provisions, provide authority which remains equivalent to, and no less stringent than the corresponding Federal laws and regulations.

Based on EPA’s responses to the comments received regarding the proposed authorization of the State-initiated changes, the EPA now makes a final decision that Texas’ hazardous waste program revisions satisfy the requirements necessary to qualify for final authorization in accordance with 40 CFR 271.21(a). EPA will continue to implement and enforce Hazardous and Solid Waste Amendments of 1984 (HSWA) provisions for which the State is not authorized. EPA also retains its authority under RCRA sections 3007, 3008, 3013 and 7003 which include, among others, authority to: (1) Take enforcement actions regardless of whether the State has taken its own action, (2) enforce RCRA requirements and suspend or revoke permits; and (3) perform inspections, and require monitoring, tests, analyses or reports.

C. Amendments to 40 CFR 272.2201

In this final action, the EPA is incorporating by reference the Texas authorized hazardous waste program in subpart SS of 40 CFR part 272. Section 272.2201(c)(1) incorporates by reference Texas’ authorized hazardous waste statutes and regulations. Section 272.2201 also references material which is not being incorporated by reference, but which the EPA considered in determining the adequacy of Texas’ program. Section 272.2201(c)(2) references sections of the Texas statutes which provide the legal basis for the State’s implementation of the hazardous waste management program. In addition, §§ 272.2201(c)(6), (7), and (8) reference the Memorandum of Agreement, the Attorney General’s Statements, and the Program Description, respectively. These documents are evaluated as part of the approval process of the hazardous waste management program in accordance with subtitle C of RCRA but are not part of the material to be incorporated by reference.

State provisions that are “broader in scope” than the Federal program are not incorporated by reference in 40 CFR part 272. For reference and clarity, the EPA lists in 40 CFR 272.2201(c)(3) the Texas statutory and regulatory provisions that are “broader in scope” than the Federal program, and which are not part of the authorized program being incorporated by reference. While “broader in scope” provisions are not part of the authorized program and cannot be enforced by the EPA, the State may enforce such provisions under State law. At 40 CFR 272.2201(c)(4) and (5), EPA lists amendments to Texas regulations and Federal rules which are not part of the Texas authorized program.

The October 24, 2018 proposed rule provides details about the effect of Texas’s codification on enforcement (See, Section III.D, 83 FR 53597) and on Federal requirements promulgated under the Hazardous and Solid Waste Amendments of 1984 (HSWA) (See Section III.F, 83 FR 53598).

1. Incorporation by Reference

In the Federal Register document published on October 24, 2018 (83 FR 53595), the EPA also proposed to codify the EPA’s authorization of Texas’ base hazardous waste management program and the State’s revisions to that program. In this action, the EPA is finalizing regulatory text that includes incorporation by reference. In accordance with the requirements of 1 CFR 51.5, the EPA is finalizing the incorporation by reference of the Texas authorized hazardous waste statutes and regulations described in the amendments to 40 CFR 272.2201 set forth below. The EPA has made, and will continue to make, these materials generally available electronically through <http://www.regulations.gov> and in hard copy at the appropriate EPA office (see the ADDRESSES section of this preamble for more information).

2. Correction and Clarification

In this final rule, the EPA is making corrections and clarifying the language in 40 CFR 272.2201(c)(5) and the associated Table. The Table includes an incorrect entry for Withdrawal of the Emission Comparable Fuel Exclusion under RCRA (Checklist 224—amendments to 40 CFR 261.4(a)(16) and 261.38) (75 FR 33712, June 15, 2010). Texas adopted and was authorized for the Comparable Fuel exclusion as introduced by the Hazardous Waste Combustors Revised Standards final (63

FR 33782, June 19, 1998 (Revision Checklist 168); however, the State did not adopt, and was not authorized for the amendment to the Comparable Fuel exclusion published on June 15, 2010. Thus, EPA is correcting the § 272.2201(c)(5) Table to remove the third entry regarding the June 15, 2010 final rule (Revision Checklist 224). The EPA is also adding language to § 272.2201(c)(5) to clarify that EPA may bring enforcement action under RCRA section 3008 at facilities that do not comply with the terms of the court vacatur. The EPA is also correcting a typographical error in the entry for Checklist 224 in the § 272.2201(c)(4)(iv) Table by replacing the Federal Register reference “73 FR 33712” with “75 FR 33712.”

D. Administrative Requirements

This final action authorizes and codifies State requirements for the purpose of RCRA section 3006 and imposes no additional requirements beyond those imposed by State law. For further information on how this authorization and codification comply with applicable executive orders and statutory provisions, please see the proposed rule published in the Federal Register (83 FR 53595, October 24, 2018).

The Congressional Review Act, 5 U.S.C. 801–808, generally provides that before a rule may take effect, the agency promulgating the rule must submit a rule report, which includes a copy of the rule to each House of the Congress and to the Comptroller General of the United States. The EPA will submit a report containing this document and other required information to the U.S. Senate, the U.S. House of Representatives, and the Comptroller General of the United States prior to publication in the Federal Register. A major rule cannot take effect until 60 days after it is published in the Federal Register. This action is not a “major rule” as defined by 5 U.S.C. 804(2). This action will be effective April 10, 2020.

authorized program, and are not incorporated by reference:

(i) Texas Health and Safety Code (THSC) Annotated, (Vernon, 2010): Chapter 361, The Texas Solid Waste Disposal Act (TSWDA), sections 361.131 through 361.140; Chapter 371, Texas Used Oil Collection, Management, and Recycling Act, sections 371.021, 371.022, 371.024(e), 371.0245, 371.0246, 371.025, and 371.026(c).

(4) Unauthorized State amendments and provisions. (i) The following authorized provisions of the Texas regulations include amendments published in the Texas Register that are not approved by EPA. Such unauthorized amendments are not part of the State’s authorized program and are, therefore, not Federally enforceable. Thus, notwithstanding the language in the Texas hazardous waste regulations incorporated by reference at paragraph (c)(1)(i) of this section, EPA will enforce the State provisions that are actually authorized by EPA. The effective dates of the State’s authorized provisions are listed in the Table below. The actual State regulatory text authorized by EPA (i.e., without the unauthorized amendments) is available as a separate document, Addendum to the EPA-Approved Texas Regulatory and Statutory Requirements Applicable to the Hazardous Waste Management Program, December, 2015. Copies of the document can be obtained from EPA Region 6, 1201 Elm Street, Suite 500, Dallas, Texas 75270.

(ii) Texas has partially or fully adopted, but is not authorized to implement, the Federal rules that are listed in the following table. The EPA will continue to implement the Federal

HSWA requirements for which Texas is not authorized until the State receives specific authorization for those requirements. The EPA will not enforce the non-HSWA Federal rules although they may be enforceable under State law. For those Federal rules that contain both HSWA and non-HSWA requirements, the EPA will enforce only the HSWA portions of the rules.

(5) Vacated Federal rules. Texas adopted and was authorized for the Federal rules listed in the Table below which have since been vacated by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit (D.C. Cir. No. 98–1379 and 08–1144, respectively; June 27, 2014). The effect of the vacatur on Texas is that the previously authorized comparable fuels and gasification rules from the State program are no longer be considered part of the Federally authorized program. Thus, EPA may bring enforcement actions under RCRA Section 3008 at facilities that do not comply with the RCRA hazardous waste regulations.

I. Background

A. The Current COVID-19 Pandemic

COVID-19 is a communicable disease caused by severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2), that was first identified as the cause of an outbreak of respiratory illness that began in Wuhan, Hubei Province, People's Republic of China. The virus is thought to be transmitted primarily by person-to-person contact through respiratory droplets produced when an infected person coughs, sneezes, or talks. Some recent studies have suggested that COVID-19 may be spread by people who are not showing symptoms. It also may be possible that a person can get COVID-19 by touching a surface or object that has the virus on it and then touching their own mouth, nose, or possibly their eyes. Older adults and people of all ages with underlying medical conditions, particularly if not well controlled, are at higher risk for more serious COVID-19 illness.¹

On January 30, 2020, the Director-General of the World Health Organization (WHO) declared that the outbreak of COVID-19 is a Public Health Emergency of International Concern under the International Health Regulations.² The following day, the Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS) declared COVID-19 a public health emergency under Section 319 of the Public Health Service (PHS) Act.³ On March 11, 2020, the WHO declared COVID-19 a pandemic. On March 13, 2020, the President issued a Proclamation on Declaring a National Emergency Concerning the Novel Coronavirus Disease (COVID-19) Outbreak under sections 201 and 301 of the National Emergencies Act, 50 U.S.C. 1601 et seq., and consistent with section 1135 of the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. 1320b-5.⁴ On March 13, 2020, the President declared a nationwide emergency under section 501(b) of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, authorizing FEMA to provide assistance for emergency protective measures to respond to the COVID-19 pandemic.⁵

As of April 7, 2020, there were over 333,000 cases of COVID-19 in the United States, resulting in over 9,500 deaths due to the disease, with new cases being reported daily. Worldwide, there have been over 1.28 million confirmed cases, resulting in over 72,600 deaths.⁶ At this time, there is no vaccine that can prevent infection with COVID-19, nor is there currently any FDA-approved post-exposure
