¹ Public Law 107-297, 116 Stat. 2322, codified at 15 U.S.C. 6701, note. Because the provisions of TRIA (as amended) appear in a note, instead of particular sections, of the United States Code, the provisions of TRIA are identified by the sections of the law.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

TRIA created the Program within the U.S. Department of the Treasury (Treasury) to address disruptions in the market for terrorism risk insurance, to help ensure the continued availability and affordability of commercial property and casualty insurance for terrorism risk, and to allow for the private market to stabilize and build insurance capacity to absorb any future losses for terrorism events. The Program has been reauthorized on a number of occasions, with various requirements directed to Treasury in connection with the Program. Most recently, the Program was reauthorized until December 31, 2027 by the Terrorism Risk Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2019 (2019 Reauthorization Act),² which was signed into law on December 20, 2019. Section 111 of the previous reauthorization, the Terrorism Risk Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2015 (2015 Reauthorization Act),³ amended Section 104 of TRIA to require the Secretary of the Treasury (Secretary) to perform periodic analyses of the Program and submit a report regarding the effectiveness of the Program to Congress not later than June 30 every other year (Program Effectiveness Report).⁴ In order to assist the Secretary with this process, Section 104 of TRIA requires insurers to submit on an annual basis certain insurance data and information regarding their participation in the Program.⁵ The 2019 Reauthorization Act recently broadened the areas that Treasury must analyze to include the availability and affordability of terrorism risk insurance, including for places of worship. The Federal Insurance Office (FIO) is authorized to assist the Secretary in the administration of the Program,⁶ including conducting the annual data call.

Prior to the enactment of the 2019 Reauthorization Act, Treasury intended to utilize the same data collection forms, without material changes, that had been approved for use by OMB under Control Number 1505-0257 for a period ending March 31, 2022. However, Treasury must collect certain additional information in order to comply with the requirement under the 2019 Reauthorization Act to analyze the availability and affordability of terrorism risk insurance, including for places of worship.

Treasury would not have sufficient time to complete the notice and comment periods associated with the standard OMB review process for new data collections before submitting its Program Effectiveness Report to Congress by the statutory deadline of June 30, 2020. As a result, Treasury obtained emergency approval from OMB to use an additional worksheet seeking information concerning places of worship. This worksheet must be completed by all categories of reporting insurers, unless they are otherwise exempt from reporting. Reporting insurers that are not exempt from reporting, but do not write any insurance policies for places of worship, will need to enter "0" in the relevant fields in the worksheet. After the 2020 TRIP Data Call reporting period is complete, Treasury will submit the places of worship worksheet (and any further material modifications to the

The next Program Effectiveness Report must be submitted to Congress no later than June 30, 2020.
